He is also president of the Central Crosstown road, a director in the National Park Bank and senior member of the firm of George S. Hart & Co., butter merchants, at No. 35 Pearl-st. For four years just preceding the reduction of fare on the elevated roads, the Second Avenus Railroad paid an annual dividend of 12 1-2 per cent. During the year following the reduction its receipts fell off $150,000. Mr. Richardson sought to use this fact against the retenof Mr. Hart, but promised no specific refor self. Charles S. Thorne was president when the falling off occurred. The first official act of Mr. Hart, upon his election last December, was to reduce the salaries of the officers to the extent of $20,000, cutting down his own omeers to the extent of a salary from $14,000 to $7,000. He has also effected a reduction of over $400 a week in the operating expenses of the road. Since he became president of the Central Crosstown road, two years ago, that road began to pay 6 or 7 per cent a year, its first dividends in several years, and its stock has advanced to 150. The last semi-annual and its stock has advanced to 150. The last semi-annual dividend of the Second Avenue road was 5 per cent, in January, 1887, at which time Mr. Richardson's Atlantic Avenue road also paid its last dividend, 2 per cent. At yesterday's election Mr. Hart voted personally 700 shares, for many years the property of himself and his family, and Mr. Richardson voted 100 shares, all of which he has acquired within the last two months.

WALSH MAY NOT SLIP THROUGH THIS TIME. The Board of Charities and Correction came to no decison yesterday in the matter of the charges of attempte ion yesterday in the matter of the charges of attempted extertion brought against Warden Waish, of the Tombs, by George R. Rhodes, the Brooklyn lawyer. The Com-missioners, however, are greatly troubled over the matter for it is not believed that they can find a single loophole through which Walsh can escape this time.

"We are investigating the charges in accordance with Mayor Hewitt's written request," said Commissioner Porter "When we reach a conclusion we shall give it to the public. We first want to find out whether the warden had any legal rights in the case-if he had a legal right to send a prisoner over to Brooklyn. PASTOR BOOLE STILL MILITANT. PASTOR BOOLE STILL MILITANT.

The trouble in the Willet Street Methodist Episcopal Church broke out again on Easter Sunday. After the close of the Easter morning service in the Sunday-school the Rev. W. H. Boole made an explanation. He said that he had endeavored to restore harmony and had consulted with George Relyes, one of the church members, with this in view. If Mr. Sheldon, the Sunday-school superintendent, would reinstate two teachers whom he had removed, the pastor would agree to replace Mr. Sheldon. Mr. Boole complained that there had been a breach of confidence in making public his agreement.

His remarks produced a commotion. Several of the members of the church arose to take part in the discussion and expressed themselves freely. One of them cussion and expressed themselves freely. One of them cussion and expressed themselves freely. One of them said there would be ne peace in the church until Mr. Boole was out of it. Mr. Shelden said yesterday that he had done what was in his power to set things right. He had offered to meet Mr. Beele and answer any charges the past-r might bring before a properly constituted Board, but the clergyman decimed to accept the challenge, while he continued to send letters to the church meetings reflecting on Mr. Sheldon. As matters now stand there is no immediate prospect of a settlement of the contraversy.

An interesting incident of the fire in "The Tribune" Building, which originated in the rooms of the Homer Lee Bank Note Company, and through defective flooring crept into the room of the City Editor, was the confidence shown by the correspondents of several out-of-town newspapers who occupied some of the lower floors of the building. They had not finished their labors when the fire broke out early Sunday morning, and they were aroused by the preparations to put out the flames. They de-seended to Spruce-st, and took a good view of the corner where the flames were and then, satisfied with the pro-tection afforced by the fireproof character of the structure, they went back to their offices and finished their work.

Under a spreading chestnut tree The village blacksmith stands, And in a brimming basin he Would wash his brawny hands; But something else than water clean His sooty palm demands.

Week in, week out, from morn till night, He might have rubbed, I trow, Had I not given him a cake Of IVORY SOAP, when, lo! Full soon those honest hands of his Were spotless as the snow.

And when the soap escaped his grasp, With wonder he did note That on the water's surface dark The cleansing bar did float, As swims upon a turbid lake A pearl white fairy boat.

For this which thou hast brought; No village blacksmith should forget The facts this Ivory Soap has taught; For hands like mine it is the best That can be found or bought."

"Thanks, thanks," said he, "my worthy friend, man Burke and about twenty-five others. George H. Forster, James J. Martin and Michael Norton, the committee appointed to prepare resolutions on the death of the former Grand Sachem, ex-Governor John T. Hoffman, offered a preamble and resolutions, reciting at length the public services rendered by him. The annual election for officers of the society will take place on Monday, April 10.

MINISTERS DEBATING HIGH LICENSE. At yesterday's session of the Newark Methodist Episco-pal Conference in the First Methodist Episcopal Church in Hoboken, there was quite a debate over a resolution offered by the Rev. Mr. Fort thanking the New-Jersey Legisinture for having passed the High-License Local-Option act. Mr. Fort advocated the adoption of the resolution and the Mr. Parsons opposed it. Mr. Parsons said that the local option feature of the new law is misleading and deceptive, because, if adopted by any county, it would allow the sale of liquer by the quart, if not by the pint, on cerand as an evidence of the integrity of the Republican legislators, said he knew of his own personal knowledge that one of them refused an offer of $9,000 to yote against the bill. The resolution was adopted. The Rev. J. I Boswell, of Nysck, was elected a delegate to the general conference. The conference will end to-merrow.

SOLID SILVER.

"The reaction from the over ornanented and imitative decoration is illustrated by a superb Dinner service now on exhibition by the Gorham Mfg Co., Silversmiths. The design is of a good type of the old English style, but the purity of outline and correct proportions soften this otherwise rather severe form."-Exch. WASOAP
